

ROBBERS FLEE WITH LOOT

Interrupted Plundering Camden House.
Escape With $140 Christmas Fund .-

Forcing an entrance through a cellar window at the home of Charles Klump, 1374 Haddon avenue, Camden, thieves were plundering the house when Mr. and Mrs. Klump came home early yesterday morning. They fled out the back way with $140 in cash, a costly centerpiece and a pillow case.

The latter was no doubt used to carry off $100 in pennies which Mrs. Klump had saved during the year. Her husband is in the saloon business at Third street and Taylor avenue and all the pennies taken in over the bar were given to Mrs. Klump. She saved them and had planned to use the fund this week in the purchase of Christmas gifts.
